BASEBALL, BICYCLES AND THE EARTH'S CYCLE—In the Spring, the old saw says, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of fishworms, two-wheelers, baseball bats, catcher's mitts and lolling on the grass. The next day he finds out the fish won't bite, his legs are too stiff to ride the bicycle, somebody on the team lost the baseball in a high patch of brush, his mitt's developed a fine case of split seams and his nose sounds like a stuffed drain from lying on the wet ground the day before. Along about here somewhere he begins to give up fishing, cycling and baseball. Then he begins to notice the girl next door again. Two days later: it's young love. Our Man MacLeod, always on the lookout for some suitable commentary on the times, came up with this aptly-recorded scene this weekend. Like almost everyone else in Monroe County, these boys were sure that Spring had come. They may be right. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Severe Spring Blizzard Sweeps Over Five States

Knowland Urges Union House Cleaning

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) urged union leaders today to "clean their own house" to avoid possible punitive legislation as the result of disclosures in the Senate rackets investigation.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters he believes "as a matter of fairness" the unions ought to have the opportunity to demonstrate that the alleged mismanagement of funds by some labor leaders indicates only isolated "bad spots" in organized labor's record.

Senate investigators have contended they can prove that $270,000 in supposed loans of union funds to Teamsters President Dave Beck represented neither loans nor gifts.

No Trace Found Of Missing Plane

TOKYO, Monday, March 25 (AP)—Tired search crews today went into their fourth day of scanning the squall-tossed Pacific for traces of a U. S. military transport plane which vanished with 67 Americans aboard.

Rainstorms and fog-heavy skies slowed the search operations Sunday. Air rescue headquarters said the vast search areas were covered with only "50 per cent effectiveness."

A fleet of 70 planes was on standby for takeoff at dawn today to resume searching for the big C-97 which crashed somewhere near the Japan coast shortly after midnight Thursday.

Constant cross-checking by ships and aircraft has turned up no clue to the fate of the transport, which was carrying 57 passengers and a crew of 10 from Wake Island to Tokyo on a flight from Travis Air Force Base in California.

The Weather
Poconos — Cloudy, windy and cooler today. Highest 40-45. Cloudy tonight with some snow mixed at first with rain lowest 30-34. Cloudy with snow and turning colder Tuesday highest 33-38.

Trains, Cars Stalled In Huge Drifts

By The Associated Press
ONE OF the worst spring blizzards in the memory of old timers stranded motorists, stalled trains, isolated communities and took at least two lives in five western states Sunday.

Wind-driven snow piled up in drifts as deep as 12 feet in eastern Colorado, western Nebraska and Kansas, and the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles. The actual snowfall generally was around 6 inches. This was whipped by winds of up to 74 miles an hour.

The value of the snow as moisture in the drought-ridden area varied. In many places it was negligible because the wind whipped it off fields into gullies where the moisture did little good.

Diminishing
The Weather Bureau said in Kansas City that the storm, which swept in out of the Rocky Mountains Saturday, was diminishing "very slowly."

It added that a new threat of heavy snow had developed in Iowa.

Estimates of the number of stranded motorists ranged up to 1,700—1,000 in Texas, 300 in Kansas, 100 in Colorado, and 200 to 300 in Nebraska. The estimates were by police and state highway patrolmen.

The number of stalled trains was hard to determine because communications were knocked out

Help For Passengers
DENVER, March 24 (AP)—Advisories that help is one the way for about 400 passengers aboard the stranded Union Pacific Railroad City of St. Louis number nine were broad, cast tonight by radio station KOA.

In many areas, the Santa Fe said in Chicago that its No. 124, the Chicago-bound "Grand Canyon," was stranded west of Dodge City, Kan., with 139 passengers. A work train was reported en route to haul passengers into town.

Rock Island's eastbound "Golden Mile" was trapped in a drift 1½ miles from Meade, Kan., with 160 persons aboard. Highway department snow plows and a National Guard howitzer headed for the scene. A second Rock Island train with 140 aboard was held up at Pratt, Kan.

Many other trains were halted at stations along their routes to wait out the storm, and dozens of runs were canceled.

One of the hardest-hit communities was Garden City, Kan., which had no electricity from 2 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. yesterday because heavy, wet snow short-circuited a supply line.

Short Supplies
The lack of power made electrically activated gas furnaces useless. No cases of extreme hardship were reported, but houses with furnaces that operated without electricity were filled with neighbors.

In the Texas Panhandle community of Vega some 400 snow-bound motorists settled for the duration in the town school, court-house and legion hall.

Milk, bread and cigarettes were reported in short supply, but plenty of staple foods were available in the town of about 700 population. The travelers, from more than two dozen states, were gathered up Saturday from stranded cars on U. S. Highway 66, a busy transcontinental route.

John Monaco of Buffalo, N. Y., and his wife, Jenny, and his brother and sister-in-law, Joe and Mary, were stranded on U. S. 66 about 7:30 a. m. yesterday and brought into Vega by a rescue crew. They were en route home from a San Francisco visit.

"We've been treated fine, but I've never seen anything like this," he said.

Athletes To Marry In Prague

VIENNA, Austria, March 24 (AP)—Two of Czechoslovakia's most famous athletes, Emil and Dana Zatopek, will be the attendants when Harold Connolly, America's Olympic hammer throw champion, marries Olga Fikotova, Czechoslovakia's Olympic discus champion, in Prague Wednesday.

Zatopek is a former triple Olympic distance champion and his wife a former Olympic javelin champion.

Republicans Set Sights On Sales Tax

HARRISBURG, March 24 (AP)—House Republican leaders set their sights for final passage tomorrow of the Senate-amended 3 per cent sales tax bill.

But the Democratic minority planned a last-ditch fight against the GOP amendments by seeking to have the controversial measure thrown into a conference committee.

The measure, already passed once by the Republican-controlled House and Senate, retains the sales tax at 3 per cent permanently and drops the stamp plan of collection which never went into effect because of court litigation.

The Senate inserted amendments exempting manufacturers, utilities and shipyards from the levy. Democrats unsuccessfully fought the amendments, claiming they favored big interests. Republicans replied they carried out the intent of the original sales tax passed in 1936.

With the Senate amendments inserted the sales tax bill went back to the House and was placed on the calendar for action Monday.

Floor Leader
Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, predicted the GOP House majority would approve the sales tax amendments, placing the measure on Gov. Leader's desk.

"The amendments should mean no loss in revenue and will clear up confusion in administering certain portions of the tax program," Johnson said.

However, Rep. Albert S. Reading, Democratic floor leader, said the Democratic minority will make a "concerted effort" to send the sales tax bill to conference committee to give it another going over.

Reading said Democratic house members will back the move but he conceded that Republican votes would be needed, since the GOP has a majority in the House.

"These Senate changes in the bill are still defective and I for one feel the measure should be studied further before we went it to the governor," Reading said.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, renewed his opposition to the sales tax amendment and said they would grant millions of dollars in exemptions to manufacturers, utilities and shipyards.

"I don't know what the governor has in mind on the amendments," Barr said.

Egypt Opposes U. N. Troops

CAIRO, March 24 (AP)—An official Egyptian source said today Egypt will refuse to allow U. N. troops to remain on the Gaza Strip (separation line) unless Israel agrees to comply fully with the 1949 armistice terms.

The informant's report appeared to dash all hope that U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld might make progress toward ending the state of war between the two countries.

Elvis Reportedly Draws Gun During Autograph Session

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24 (AP)—A lanky young Marine said today he feels rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley "owes me an apology" for pulling a "pistol" on him.

But Pvt. Hershel Nixon, 18, said he did not intend to make a formal complaint to police. Officers said they planned no action unless Nixon did make a complaint.

Presley said he whipped out

U.S. To Supply Britain With Certain Missiles

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, March 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan announced today the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to Britain under a program designed to help the British achieve a streamlined atomic age military force.

They challenged Russia to agree to "limited international observation" of nuclear tests and give advance notice of all tests to the United Nations.

They declared their own intention "to continue to conduct nuclear tests only in such a manner as will keep world radiation" from rising to a level hazardous to human safety.

Agreement
And they announced in an 11-point published agreement their full support for U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's efforts to negotiate an agreement with Egyptian President Nasser on operation of the Suez Canal.

At the conclusion of the four-day talks Eisenhower returned to Washington in his private plane, Columbine II. Macmillan stayed on for conferences tomorrow with Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and other Canadian officials.

Britain will receive an intermediate ballistic missile capable of carrying an atomic warhead but not the warhead itself. But warheads are being stored in Britain and Eisenhower was said to have authority in event of war to turn them over as necessary for British use.

Britain probably will receive also under plans projected here a supply of the Corporal type anti-aircraft missiles. This is at present under consideration by the U. S. government.

Communique
A communique issued on conclusion of the Bermuda talks said the President and Prime Minister had agreed in principle to the supply of guided missiles "in the interest of mutual defense and economy."

It was also learned a key purpose is to give Britain deterrent striking power against Russia. The Soviets threatened last fall during the Suez crisis they could use missiles against Britain.

U. S. missiles development is reported to be well ahead of the British, but even so the 1,500-mile Intermediate-Range Ballistic Missile probably will not be in quantity production for two to four years. However, weapons are coming along fast enough to allow delivery of some to Britain fairly soon.

Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other American officials are reported to believe the missiles program will save the United States money by ruling out the necessity to supply an operational force for missile bases located in Britain. Britain will be able to economize by avoiding duplication of U. S. expense in the development and manufacture of the weapon.

The missile may either be given directly to the British or leased in some manner not yet worked out. American officials understand the British may go forward with their own program of atomic warhead development.

Regarding the offer on observation of nuclear tests, Dulles telephoned word of this to Harold Stassen at the U. N. Disarmament Subcommittee talks in London yesterday.

Macmillan held a news conference later in the day—his first since succeeding Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister.

Asked if he and Eisenhower were agreed on action to be taken if either Israel or Egypt "violated their international obligations" in the Middle East, Macmillan replied:

"We have considered all the possibilities of what might happen. We are agreed on the need to make efforts to prevent this awful thing from happening. What we have gained from this conference is we are going to face these problems together."

San Francisco Earthquakes Head Into Safe Stability

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24 (AP)—The San Andreas fault, which shook the San Francisco area with a jolting series of earthquakes causing widespread but minor damage Friday, appeared settling today into a safe stability that quake experts said could continue for several years.

Mundt Accuses Democrats Of 'Slowdown'

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) accused Democrats today of conducting a deliberate slowdown in Congress because he said they are "painfully divided" over fundamental issues.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called this "poppycock."

Mundt, a member of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said that if the trend of inaction continues the 85th Congress is going to earn a "do nothing" label the Democrats will find hard to share in next year's election for control of both houses.

"The Democrats are certainly staging a slow-down now," he said. "Congress isn't doing anything and it is certainly by design. I think the Democrats are so painfully divided over some issues that they want to avoid stirring things up."

Mundt said it was obvious to him that Democrats are fighting among themselves over civil rights, school construction, housing and other legislation.

Only one light aftershock was recorded between Saturday midnight and 10 a. m. Sunday, reported Dr. Don Tocher, University of California seismologist. The light tremor at 7:34 a. m. PST was the 72nd aftershock following the major quake at 11:45 a. m. Friday.

"The earthquake Friday relieved the strains which have been building up in the San Andreas fault for a long time," said the Rev. John S. Weber, University of Santa Clara seismologist.

"It probably was the only major earthquake that we will have in this area for several years."

Release
Father Weber said Friday's shock was like the popping of a safety valve release of strains in the giant fault structure. It has forestalled, he said, more and perhaps greater shocks in the immediate future.

As the earth tremors subsided into more widely separated light twitches of the earth, the region's residents calmed their jitters. Those in the hardest hit areas of Westlake and Daly City finished cleaning up messes of fallen plaster and broken windows.

All 137 of San Francisco's schools will reopen Monday with the possible exception of one elementary school where a chimney toppled. This building was declared completely safe but school officials said the cleaning up job might not be finished Monday morning.

Harold Stiles, city manager in Daly City, estimated between 500 and 1,000 homes were damaged in the community but a dollar-loss figure was impossible to compute.

Four More Recordings

WESTON, Mass., March 24 (AP)—Officials of Weston Observatory today reported their instruments recorded four earthquakes since yesterday afternoon. Three of them, listed as "strong," were recorded within a three-hour period early today.

Common Market To Become Reality

ROME, March 24 (AP)—The European Common Market, dream of idealists for centuries, becomes reality tomorrow.

The signatures of six statesmen on a little sheaf of papers will herald a new era in old Europe, an era of unity unapproached since the days of Charlemagne's empire more than 11 centuries ago.

The documents the ministers will sign will bind together in economic union the 163 million persons of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Like Charlemagne's empire, the new European market will not include Britain, but will act in friendly concert with it.

Six Nations
The legislatures of the six nations still have to ratify the agreements, reached in Paris less than six weeks ago. But the ministers' signatures are a pledge to honor the pacts as soon as they can be started working.

The pacts, known as the "European Common Market" and "Euratom"—European Atomic Pool—represent a revolutionary scheme to cut across national borders and blend the economies of the member nations into a giant producing and consuming empire that can compete in world trade as an equal of the giant states.

Under the agreements, the six states will gradually liquidate all customs barriers among themselves and organize a single tariff schedule on imports from the rest of the world.

Biggest drawback to the scheme, its members agree, is the absence of Britain.

Jerusalem, Israel Sector

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, March 24 (AP)—The 3,500-ton Danish freighter Brigitta Toft chartered by Israel entered the Tiran Straits without Arab interference, the Israeli government radio said tonight.

Nixon Departs From Hospital

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—Vice President Nixon today completed an on-again off-again course of treatment for bronchitis at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He was reported "much improved."

Nixon entered the hospital Friday night, left briefly yesterday morning, returned to spend the afternoon, left again last night to fulfill two social commitments, then went back to the hospital and stayed overnight. He was discharged this morning.

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. Charles A. Park
Christ Episcopal Church

AT THE ANNUNCIATION St. Mary the Virgin joyfully accepted that unique, august vocation that God the Father willed for her, and found herself blessed by all generations. From her womb (and by the power of God the Holy Spirit) God the Son, the Creative Energy who made the worlds, took for His indwelling a human body and soul in which He would fight humanity's battle against sin and death, and so redeem and restore His spoiled creation.

If our Lord the Christ is the Model and Maker and Remaker of our humanity, then the Mother of our Lord can be for us an example of the motive and meaning of our living. In singular manner and glory the Blessed Virgin is the God-bearer, because He became true Man of her substance. Yet in a mystery each of us also, through faith and sacrament, shall become God-bearers as Christ is spiritually born anew in us.

Christ is to displace self as the secret center of our lives, so that others see, not us, but Christ in us, bringing with Him the hope of all the glorious things to come. We, too, must know the indwelling of our Lord the Spirit, and be overshadowed by the power of the Most High, till this warped, earthly nature of ours has died in Christ's Death, and we are risen in His likeness, glorious, immortal, by the power of His Resurrection.

Leader Hopes To Modernize Constitution

HARRISBURG, March 24 (AP)—Gov. Leader started a new plan today to modernize Pennsylvania's 83-year-old Constitution.

The governor drafted a special message for submission to the Legislature tomorrow recommending a 15-member commission with broad powers to decide how the state's organic law should be brought up to date.

"No one doubts that it should be brought into keeping with our times," Leader said in the message. "No one argues that many of its provisions have become obsolete as a result of the Commonwealth's continuing growth. Yet, so far we have done nothing about it."

Former Republican Gov. John S. Fine sought unsuccessfully revision of the state's constitution in 1953 on grounds the document written in 1874 was obsolete.

Commission
Fine submitted to the Legislature a bill setting up a commission on constitutional revision and calling for election of delegates to a constitutional convention. The Legislature watered down the proposal to a question of whether the voters wanted the convention set up. They rejected that.

Much of the debate in the Legislature at that time centered around the uniformity clause in the constitution which prohibits a graduated income tax such as is imposed by the federal government.

Voters of the state during the Democratic Earle administration in 1935-38 rejected a proposal that would have permitted a graduated income tax.

Switzerland's Attorney Found Dead

BERN, Switzerland, March 24 (AP)—Switzerland's attorney general, Rene Dubois, committed suicide with his army revolver last night after coming under suspicion of spying for France.

Dubois, the federal government's chief legal officer, became involved in a police investigation of espionage at the Egyptian Embassy in Bern.

A government announcement stressed he was not suspected of espionage against Switzerland. Under Switzerland's neutrality laws, however, espionage directed against a foreign nation is also a criminal offense.

National Militia
Like all able-bodied Swiss men, Dubois was a member of the national militia and kept at his home the service revolver issued to him as a General Staff officer.

The government announcement said police investigations had disclosed "some noteworthy evidence that the attorney general himself may have passed information not concerning Swiss affairs illegally to foreign quarters."

Advertising Expert Traces Work Results

A LOCAL advertising expert traced the origin and results of newspaper and display promotion for the Consumer Education class at East Stroudsburg Joint High School last week.

A. A. Widmer, head of the Wyckoff's Department Store advertising department, described the "inception of advertising ideas" for the students.

He then showed them the "finished product"—an advertisement in The Daily Record and outlined the multiple purpose of such ads. In other phases of his talk, Widmer explained offset printing, the distribution of promotion by mail and other forms of display.

Description

Widmer described his work with New York agencies in connection with the promotion of brand names and his work with store department heads in the selection of material for "features" during store-wide sales.

The advertising authority emphasized that the perceptiveness of teen-agers is of prime importance to business because young men and women are the adult buyers of tomorrow.

Mrs. Suzanne Lee, teacher of the class, said that Widmer illustrated his talk with sketches as he went along.

Monroe County's Place In Industrial Picture Being Highlighted In National Advertisement

HARRISBURG, March 24.—Monroe County's place in the Pennsylvania industrial picture is being highlighted in an advertisement appearing in nationally distributed publications, according to an announcement by State Commerce Secretary William R. Davlin.

The advertisement, which first appeared in the Wall Street Journal and later in the New York Times and the U. S. News and World Report, features the Delaware Water Gap plant of the Ronson Corporation.

In the advertisement L. V. Aronson, Ronson president, cites the "availability of skilled men and women capable of providing the quality workmanship for which the Ronson name stands" as his company's number one reason for expansion in Monroe County.

In a further testimonial to Pennsylvania's resources, the Ronson president says Pennsylvania has offered his company: "Transportation facilities which satisfy our needs. . . . A cooperative and understanding community relationship between our company and the people of the Stroudsburg area. . . . Ample services and facilities which will not limit the future expansion of our manufacturing plant and our working force. . . . Loyal service by our employees."

The advertisement pictures and describes Ronson's new 110,000-square foot lighter and accessories plant. In five years it will turn out 20 million lighters and "tens of millions of flint packages", the Department of Commerce advertisement says.

Secretary Davlin said, meanwhile, the advantages of Monroe County and the Stroudsburg area "can be found in many other sections of the state."

Pennsylvania plant location advantages, described in the advertisement, include financing, transportation, available supply of skilled labor, raw materials, short supply routes, excellent highways, a favorable business atmosphere and pleasant living conditions for employees.

"This series of testimonial ads," Davlin said, "is designed to attract the attention of out-of-state firms to the advantages Pennsylvania can offer new or expanding industry."

"During the next several weeks hundreds of thousands of executives throughout the nation, from Los Angeles to Boston, from Chicago to New Orleans, and from Miami to Seattle, will be reading about the advantages they can anticipate if they locate plants in Pennsylvania."

The Pennsylvania Department of Commerce has sponsored similar testimonial advertisements on Pennsylvania industrial expansion in several national business publications for 12 other companies and communities. Among those featured have been Celotex Corp., Pittston, Lambert-Hudnut Manufacturing Laboratories, Lititz, and Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., Altoona.

M.S. Baldwin, Women's Club To Receive 'Benjamin Rush Awards'

By Leonard Randolph
MEDICAL SOCIETY of Monroe County has chosen winners of its 1956 "Benjamin Rush Awards."

The awards go each year to an individual and group which have contributed greatly to the health and welfare of the local community.

Winners for 1956 are Martin Styles Baldwin, past president of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council and The Stroudsburg Woman's Club.

In announcing its current awards this weekend, the Society pointed out that both Baldwin and the Woman's Club have a long history of activity in community service.

This morning's story will concern itself with the award to Baldwin. In a separate article tomorrow morning, the history of service brought to Stroudsburg and Monroe County by the Woman's Club and its members will be detailed.

Baldwin, whose affiliation with the Olympic Athletic Reconditioning Co., brings him into constant contact with young men within the community, has built for himself a solid reputation for his untiring efforts in furthering the health and welfare of the youth of our county through his activities in the YMCA, the Society's special award committee noted.

"He has served on the YMCA board for the past 12 years and is chairman of its physical training committee. He has constantly stimulated young people towards improving their physical health through active participation in athletics," the committee continued.

"But Baldwin has never contented himself with mere 'encouragement' in words where young athletes are concerned," the report said. "When promising athletes emerge on the local scene, he has helped, and continues to help, them in finding college appointments where they may profit from their activities and skills. His work in this field has been constant and of enormous value both to students and to their schools."

"There is, of course, a direct relationship between athletics for young people and the overall health of a community at large," the report said. "In helping to train young men and women in sports, Baldwin, and those who have served under his leadership, have kept a watchful eye on the welfare of the county as a living social unit. In providing healthy physical education programs for the young, such men help to pave the way for a healthier and happier adult life in a community which grows more and more conscious of its responsibility to young and old citizens alike."

The report continues: "Baldwin's contributions to public health and welfare have been equally remarkable. Early in its history, he saw the acute need for the unified appeal to support welfare and health agencies through the Monroe County Community Chest and Council. Working with others, he helped to build the local Chest to its present point of efficiency."

"In 1953 he served as chairman of the campaign committee for the Chest, then followed this period of service with two years in the office of Chest vice president and one year as president.

"During this past year, Baldwin served as both president and acting campaign chairman for the $75,000 Community Chest drive in Monroe County. It was the largest quota ever set by the Chest locally—and the quota was made because, as Baldwin said time and again during the drive, it had to be."

"He has been instrumental in securing many donations to the General Hospital of Monroe County, these funds providing an important income to the hospital organization at a time when it needed funds badly."

"In 1955 when Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Monroe County were paralyzed by the nightmare aftermath of a flash flood, a special fund made up of contributions from outside the area was raised by hard-pressed Chest leaders. Portions of this fund were later allocated to playgrounds in The Stroudsburgs to aid in their rehabilitation. Both borough playgrounds were devastated by flood waters."

"Thanks largely to the efforts of Baldwin, as Chest president, and other civic-minded members of the official Chest board, the funds for rehabilitation allowed the playgrounds to reopen last summer."

"In all his other activities, Baldwin has left the mark of a man who is genuinely interested in the health and well-being of citizens within his community. He is a past president of the Stroudsburg Little League. He served as flood relief chairman for the Lehigh Consistory in the post-flood era.

"A past president of the Stroudsburg Lions Club, he formerly served as chairman of the tonsil and eyeglass fund for that club. The Lions club organization is also a past winner of the Rush award, given to it on the basis of the fund which is used to finance treatment and prescriptions for children."

"The committee feels that the contributions Marty Baldwin has made toward the betterment of health and welfare in the community at large merit his receiving the Benjamin Rush award for 1956."

Work To Resume On Highways

By Paul Carlson

WORK WILL be resumed shortly on flood projects which were halted because of cold weather, a State highway official announced last night.

Assistant District Engineer Ted Henderson reported that work will begin sometime this week on construction of a two-lane concrete highway on Routes 90 and 196, a distance of about two miles, between Ananook and Henryville.

Two Bridges
The contractor, Irving Loomis of Montrose, has already completed construction of two bridges in that area.

Henderson estimated that the road construction will involve about 40 working days.

The highway spokesman also reported that the Herbert Imbt Construction Co. is expected to begin permanent work on the approaches to the two Route 611 bridges at Bartonville just as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Henderson indicated this would probably be between April 1 to April 15.

Last Friday, he said, the contractor did some temporary work on the approaches of both of these spans.

Drownings Show Increase In State

By The Associated Press

DEATHS by drowning, an ominous sign of spring and warm weather, increased sharply over the weekend as Pennsylvania counted eight dead in accidents.

There were four drownings including two young brothers who slipped into a creek near their Northumberland home yesterday. They were Charles, 5, and Gary Snyder, 7.

Victims

Other drowning victims were two-year-old Deborah Jean Watt, who fell into an abandoned cistern on her father's farm near Export, Westmoreland County, Saturday, and Donald Roberts, 4, of Pittsburgh's North Side, who fell into the Allegheny River on Sunday.

Auto deaths were at the lowest figure since the last weekend of July, 1956, when three died. Two died this past weekend in Pennsylvania auto accidents. One was a three-year-old Bucks County boy who darted into the path of an auto in Telford Saturday.

Two Small Boys Drown In Creek

NORTHUMBERLAND, March 24 (AP)—Two small boys drowned in a creek today near their home

Charles, five, and Gary, seven, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Snyder, (of 622 Queen St.) were pronounced dead on arrival at Sunbury Community Hospital. It was believed the boys had been playing along the creek, described as about a foot and a half deep, when they slipped in.

Deputy Northumberland County Coroner Robert Blank ruled the deaths accidental. However, Northumberland Borough police continued an investigation to learn the exact circumstances.

Grass Fires Cause Little Area Damage

BRUSH AND grass fires marred the warm Spring weather and kept area volunteer firemen on the move over the weekend. However, there was no damage. Firefighters called upon residents to exercise extreme caution in lighting outdoor fires during the windy Spring weather.

Some 60 Stroudsburg firefighters and five pieces of apparatus were sent to the "Knob" section between Fourth and Fifth Sts., to extinguish a blaze which broke out in the rear of the Septic Tank Co. about noon yesterday.

About 35 men and three pieces of Acme Hose Co. equipment were used to battle three fires which broke out in East Stroudsburg yesterday.

First Alarm

The first alarm sounded about 1 p.m. when a fire broke out on property owned by the Metropolitan Edison Co., and located behind Prospect Cemetery. About two acres were burned over.

Firefighters then were called to the Harris St. area about 5:45 p.m. From there, the volunteers went to the Berwick Heights section to fight a third brush blaze.

Two other fires were extinguished by East Stroudsburg volunteers on Saturday.

Pocono Township firefighters answered two alarms on Saturday. But in both instances they did not have to go into service.

An alarm came in at 4:35 p.m., Saturday that a fire had started near the home of Mrs. Frances Beseker, on Cherry Lane Rd. However, it was out when they arrived. From there, they went out to Meisertown, and, again, the blaze had been extinguished before they arrived.

HERMAN MEINHART is one of scores of area volunteer firefighters who answered calls over the weekend to extinguish several grass and brush fires. Meinhart, a member of Acme Hose Co., in East Stroudsburg, is seen fighting one of three brush blazes which broke out in the borough on Sunday. Firemen urged residents to be more careful when starting outdoor fires.

ESSTC To Evaluate Impact

IN THE JAN 31, "Blueprint for Progress" edition of The Daily Record, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, said that one goal of his administration is a closer bond between the college and the entire community it serves.

Wednesday night, in a program sponsored by the local chapter of American Association of University Professors, an attempt will be made to evaluate the impact of the college on the area.

So much planning and effort has gone into the making of the panel discussion that AAUP members call this week's program their most important in many years.

It is based on a four-sided evaluation of the preparation of teachers and the varied effects the college has—and should have—on Monroe County and the rest of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Running through the discussion by local businessmen and citizens will be the effort of the professional staff itself to improve or increase its own service to the community.

A large group of education and civic leaders have been invited to attend the meeting. It is slated to begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Shawnee lounge.

Indications over the weekend have pointed to a "good turnout and a highly successful" meeting, chapter program chairman Perry Bean said.

Bean said that Walter Peeney, president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, expressed the fear that too many persons make take the college for granted. Peeney indicated that it would be beneficial for businessmen to recognize the economic importance of the college in this area and throughout the district it serves.

Commenting on this specific program, Dr. Koehler said that he thought such a conference would be "good for the morale" of the staff since it would give them a chance to take a good look at themselves.

Such evaluations, he said, are important not only because they point out flaws which can be conscientiously remedied, but also because they help staff members to realize—perhaps for the first time—the basic good they are achieving in a community.

Dr. Francis B. McGarry, in charge of instruction at the college, has shown a consistently receptive attitude toward suggestions from beyond the campus, Bean pointed out. It is at Dr. McGarry's suggestion that the presidents of the 11 student councils on campus will be invited to "sit in" on the discussion.

Principal participants in the program will be Ernest H. Wyckoff, head of the A. B. Wyckoff department store; Miss Genevieve Zimbar, acting co-chairman of the Health Education Department; Edward Tracy, Easton city schools superintendent and Thomas Spillane, president of the Student Senate on campus.

Varying Approaches

Each of the four speakers is expected to present a varying approach to the whole problem of college-community relations, relations. Among the areas to be considered are: the effect of college payrolls on the economic stability of the area; the quantity of teachers and the quality of teaching; college activities which broaden the student's horizons and which are not formally included in his curriculum.

This program is one of a series undertaken by the local AAUP. One purpose of the organization is to "foster educational and professional growth" among its members, Bean said.

As a national organization the AAUP has 36,415 active members in 1,013 colleges and universities in the U. S. Membership is a privilege and not an obligation. The local college chapter has more members than any other Pennsylvania State teachers college unit. The number of members on its roster is exceeded only by three teachers colleges in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York.

Officers of the local AAUP chapter are: Catherine A. Reimard, president; Dr. William N. Martin, vice president, and Dr. Harold F. Creveling, secretary - treasurer. Bean is program chairman and Mrs. Rose Epling Meckel is chairman of the social committee.

Unions Should Move To Clean House

From our observation, the rank and file members and officers of labor union locals realize some of their national organizations have a lot of dirty linen that needs washing, and they welcome the current Senate rackety investigation.

If such is the case all across the nation, we can anticipate union leaders accepting Sen. William F. Knowland's challenge to "clean their own house" to prevent possible punitive legislation as the result of the probe disclosures.

The California senator said unions should have the opportunity to demonstrate that the alleged mishandling of funds by some labor leaders indicates only isolated "bad spots" in organized labor's record.

We agree with Sen. Knowland and feel that labor owes it to itself and the public, generally, to rid its house of bad elements wherever it finds them.

At present, the investigative spotlight is focused on the huge Teamsters Union headed by Dave Beck. Senate probes say they can prove that $270,000 in supposed loans of union funds to Beck were neither loans nor gifts.

Beck had acknowledged he "borrowed" more than $300,000 from the union over the past 10 years — without paying one cent of interest and without informing the rank-and-file how its funds were being employed.

This irresponsible handling of union finances provides the conclusive answer to those who question whether union funds require careful control, including full and regular accounting to all the members.

Congress should establish strong controls, perhaps by amending the Taft-Hartley Law, to protect the dues-paying union member against the greedy and dishonest leader. Certainly it is not good for the country to have a union run as if it were a private financial empire to be manipulated at the whim of self-seeking men.

Bureau Of Political Standards Needed

After a little time spent at reading the claims and counter-claims of government officials and agencies, we conclude that Uncle Sam needs a bureau of political standards — an outfit established to fix impartial measures of performance in vital fields of government.

For example, the Agriculture Department says that in 1956 U.S. farmers' income went up four percent over 1955. This result was obtained by computing what money farmers had left from products sold and consumed after paying production expenses.

But the government's critics, including opposition party men, say this isn't the right way to figure farm income. They would do it by gauging the net value of actual output for the year.

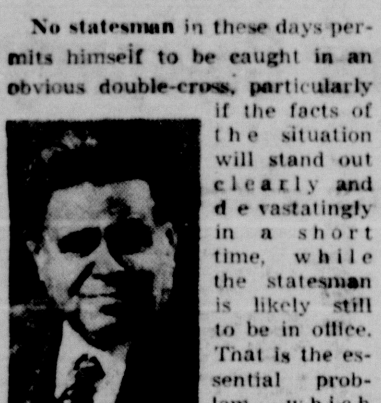

By that system, farmers would show an income loss of slightly less than one percent for 1956.

This same fiscal foginess often affects judgments of budget operations, to a point where one side says there's a deficit and the other declares a surplus.

Voters cannot easily judge the performance of their public servants if there is no agreement on the basic terms of measurement.

George Sokolsky Says...

Great Britain And France Suspect Dulles Of Double-Crossing Israel In Gaza Deal

faces Ben-Gurion of Israel and Guy Mollet of France. Did they correctly understand what John Foster Dulles meant by "assumptions" concerning Gaza and Agaba or did Dulles mean something else than he said or did he say less than he meant?

At any rate, the British, French and Israeli are now convinced that there was some kind of a double-cross concerning Gaza. The discussion is whether it was Henry Cabot Lodge, Dag Hammarskjöld or John Foster Dulles, himself who put in the double-cross.

Concerning Hammarskjöld, Israel takes the position that he is a modern Haman, a potential Torquemada, a sacrifice of Israel to the wiles of Nasser. This view is unfair because Hammarskjöld is in a tough position as Secretary General of the United Nations and he would have done himself and his reputation if he had kept out of this sea of troubled waters because actually he represents no power and no authority and can only go as far as either the United States or Soviet Russia is willing to permit him. His awkwardness arises from the fact that the balance of power is held by the Afro-Asian countries which, if they combine with the Soviet countries, can so manipulate the affairs of the General Assembly as to deaden it.

What Dag Hammarskjöld and Ralph Bunche have been trying to assert in the Israeli-Egyptian situation is the authority of the United Nations, seeking to set precedents which would have the weight perhaps of the Supreme Court decisions of John Marshall in the early days of the history of the United States. Thus far, they have not succeeded, although they have had the enthusiastic and even exaggerated support of President Eisenhower.

In Great Britain and France, the sentiment has developed that John Foster Dulles has double-crossed Israel. The British and French have developed an unusual dislike for Dulles. It might be said that no Secretary of State in recent years has been as unpopular with our principal allies as Dulles has become.

It has been during the Eisenhower Administration that Great Britain and France have suffered most drastically from American opposition to European colonialism in Africa and Asia. Whereas during the Truman Administration, it came to be recognized that Soviet Russia is the principal enemy of the United States and that the strength of this country lay in its alliance with Great Britain and France, during the Eisenhower Administration the concept was developed that the security of the United States lay in the good-will of the underdeveloped, uncommitted, bargaining countries of Africa and Asia.

The climax came with the seizure of the Suez Canal by Nasser and the costly events that followed. Both the British and the French are now convinced that when Nasser seized the canal, they should have gone in and polished him off fast. That they did not do this was due to the attitude of John Foster Dulles who was constantly seeking alternatives to war.

But have they asked themselves whether Dulles was speaking as an independent statesman or as an advocate of the pacifism of President Eisenhower?

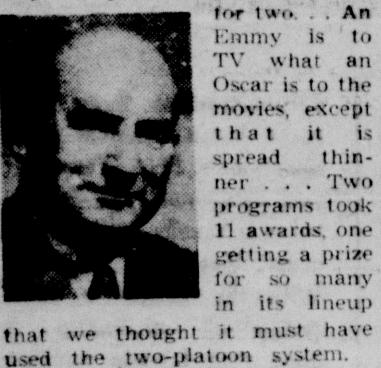

This conflict of personalities and ideas only concerns Israel as it affects this small nation's struggle for survival. Israel pursued a course dictated by the United States. That course has strengthened Nasser. It could destroy not only Israel but also Jordan and the $200,000,000 of aid designated for the Middle East could be used to bring Saudi Arabia and Syria not only into Israel but into Jordan as well.

It is the purpose of Israel not to die. And if that means that the Israeli will fight into the streets of Cairo, that will happen, too. To meet precisely that possibility, Soviet Russia has sent Shepilov to Cairo and with him undoubtedly goes a staff of experts, including military experts. While it is ridiculous to regard the errors of American policy during the past six months as irreparable, they have been unnecessarily costly.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Looking Back At "Emmy" In the recent distribution of Emmy awards by TV never did so few win so many... There should have been an Emmy for any TV personality who settled for two... An Emmy is to TV what an Oscar is to the movies, except that it is spread thinner... Two programs took 11 awards, one getting a prize for so many in its lineup that we thought it must have used the two-platoon system. This was "Requiem for a Heavyweight," a mighty fine TV drama, but, watching the ceremonies, we got the opinion the Emmy show was doing a "Requiem for Competitors"... Sid Caesar, his show and his associates took down five Emmies... This was two more than Julius Caesar got for all his Roman Empire performances.

Ed Murrow got three, and it seems to some TV fans that the networks are making a big mistake if they don't merge "See It Now," "Caesar's Hour" and "Requiem" into one Sunday night spectacular to be called "I Love Emmies."

Not that we are knocking any winner... We just think the fire was too concentrated and should have been scattered so there would be no danger of a government suit against Emmy as a monopoly... The awards were so concentrated, in fact, that we think at least a hundred losers should now demand equal time.

Two awards gave us the most kick, the one to Carl Reiner, for the best supporting performance of the year and the other to Nanette Fabray for the best continuing performance by a comedienne... Reiner, one of the most versatile actors in the business, plays about every type on the Caesar show and does it to perfection... Miss Fabray, a wonder gal in our book, was dropped from the Caesar show early last year with what some people thought was unnecessary roughness, and it was great to see her win an Emmy for what could be called "the best continuing performance despite the interruption"... There was considerable groaning in front of TV sets when no mention was made of Jackie Gleason... Was he a late scratch?... Not even a whispered reference to Bob Hope...

Jack Benny, nominated in several categories, won nothing. This is mutiny. We still think Charles Van Doren could lick 'em all.

Certainly the most continuous performance of the times, for nine weeks comprising suspense, mystery and intelligence could go to Charles. With the Nader lad from St. Louis entitled to a basket of Emmies for the most spectacular performance by any warehouse clerk (P.S.—And why was there no Emmy for Joe Welch, the Boston attorney and McCarthy hearing star?)

With Veep Nixon, Arthur Godfrey and Ramar of the Jungle all in Africa at the same time there is no use contending that America hasn't gone all out in that area, win, lose or draw... The only people left on earth who still think the female leg is a novelty seem to be the tabloid photographers... Jimmy Durante was given a whopping banquet at the Waldorf the other night... Few funny men in history have lasted so long, made more friends or maintained such a nonstop record for hilarity beyond the call of duty... It was news to us to read that in World War I Jimmy had his own band and regarded himself as a musician rather than a comedian... The nation's home builders are disturbed about a big drop in demand for new homes and are starting a drive for customers... It would be a big spur to public interest if they would agree to put up a house with a curved board in it anywhere and turn out an attractive doorway... Remember away back when a $50,000 jackpot was regarded as amounting to something more than petty cash?

Sixteen peaks in the Appalachian mountains are more than 6,000 feet above sea level, part of the highest land mass in the eastern United States.

Have you ever said that to yourself?

Some Variations

Another variation is, "I love to write songs but I'm afraid to take them to a music publisher because they are all pirates." Or, "I have an idea for the boss, but I know he'll palm it off as his own."

Many people do think this way, so they never present their ideas or submit their songs or manuscripts. They protect themselves from theft, but they also prevent their own creative development.

Giving away your ideas is the best way to exercise your capacity for thinking up new ones! If you keep getting good ideas but let them die a horrible death, you are eventually apt to find that you are unable to think up any at all.

My experience has been, first, that people don't steal ideas nearly as often as we might suspect; second, that there are ways of protecting ideas to some extent; third, that even if people do steal your golden eggs for a while, they will eventually hire the goose that lays them.

Mary L. is a case in point.

Mary works in an advertising agency for a man who does steal ideas from his underlings. Eventually, she just refused to present any more ideas to him.

But another girl who worked with her wasn't as cagey. She continued to suggest good ideas and the boss kept stealing them. But the girl's ideas got better and better and another executive began to notice it.

Has Top Job

He knew her boss well enough to know that the ideas couldn't be his and he realized that the girl must be the one who was contributing them. So he had her transferred to his department. Today, she has a top creative job.

Mary, on the other hand, is still doing clerical work.

How do you protect an idea? Well, obviously, if you can copyright it, so much the better. But some ideas cannot be copyrighted. Then, too, many people don't have the money necessary in any case.

Dated Letter

One way to protect yourself is to mail yourself a letter containing a thorough outline of your idea. When it comes back, keep it.

Some Think Anyone Who Buys Ideas Will Pirate Theirs

unopened. Then, if you ever need it, the postmark on that letter will be proof that you thought of the idea first.

However, this kind of proof is rarely needed. The person who's in the habit of thinking up good ideas accomplishes so much in the way of personal development that things open up for her. She soon finds herself in a better job. If this is your problem, do remember that, in the last analysis, nobody cheats us but ourselves. Keep dreaming up ideas and you'll carve a good job for yourself!

Rube Waddell was not only one of the greatest southpaws in baseball history, but one of its most eccentric and unpredictable characters. Fined a hundred dollars by a thoroughly exasperated manager, Waddell, the picture of injured innocence, demanded, "What did I do now?"

"The fine," explained the manager, "is for that disgraceful hotel episode in Detroit."

"You're crazy!" roared Rube. "There AIN'T no Hotel EPISODE in Detroit."

Jerry Bruck is reading a novel about a baseball umpire named Gibbon for publication about the time the season opens. This Gibbon loses his glasses during a twilight game at Ebbets Field, spends the rest of his life in a futile search for them, and finally plunges to his death from the second tier of a grandstand in Kansas City. The title, of course, will be, "The Decline and Fall of the Roaming Umpire."

Air Force Warning System Having Nervous Breakdown

Washington, March 24 — The Air Force's $2 billion nationwide electronic warning system is in deep trouble.

It is literally having a "nervous breakdown."

That's the way the technicians are privately describing what happened to this crucial defense communications service in a series of operational tests by the Strategic Air Command.

These tests of SAGE, by jet bombers with special radar equipment, uncovered a number of major weaknesses which would be fatal in a hostile air attack.

SAGE stands for "semi-automatic ground environment" communications system. It's being built, under Air Force contracts, by American Telephone & Telegraph Company, through its subsidiary Western Electric Co. In addition to providing thousands of communications circuits, the project also calls for construction of numerous technical facilities.

The disturbing information regarding SAGE's "nervous breakdown" has been uncovered by the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Representative George Mahon (D-Tex.).

The Subcommittee's startling discovery came at an embarrassing time for SAGE, on which the Air Force so far has spent approximately $400,000,000.

Another Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Representative Albert Thomas (D-Tex.), has launched a thorough study of SAGE to determine how it compares in effectiveness, reliability and cost with a potential rival communications service.

This is a micro-wave system being advocated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

To start construction of such a system, CAA is asking Congress for $40,000,000. The CAA holds this system is essential to provide "enroute air surveillance of all major airways in the U.S."

CAA officials have also told the Thomas Subcommittee that micro-wave communications are better and less expensive than SAGE.

Still another factor is being raised by the two Appropriations Subcommittees.

They are much concerned about the Air Force and CAA communications systems duplicating each other. This would be a waste running into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Representative Thomas particularly stressed this in questioning CAA officials. His Subcommittee has jurisdiction over their budget.

When completed, SAGE will tie in directly with the DEW (distant early warning) line in the Arctic that extends from Alaska across Canada to Greenland. The Strategic Air Command's tests of SAGE caused extensive communications breakdowns through jamming and other disruptions.

As a result the costly warning system suffered a "nervous breakdown" that made it virtually ineffective.

Representative Mahon's Subcommittee got wind of this alarming situation by sharp questioning of Air Force and Defense officials. While testifying on the controversial $38,000,000,000 military budget, they disclosed that SAGE had run into difficulties.

Committees immediately demanded an explanation. Under questioning, the Pentagon authorities revealed that certain matters were being held up pending the development of anti-jamming equipment.

Telephone Operators Read Minds

By Jim Riley

"Telephone operators are mind readers."

Tom Waring is the authority for the above statement. It all came out of an incident the other night.

The well known Shawnee resident marched to the telephone to place a call.

When he picked up the receiver the operator asked, "Are you the party calling (number forgotten). It happened to be exactly the number Tom was about to call."

After seconds of silence and wonderment, Tom informed the operator that this was the number he wanted, but that it was the first time he had placed the call.

The mystery was solved a short time later when Tom found that another party had attempted to get the same number moments earlier.

The big question is — Who had whose number?

Mr. and Mrs. James Ottaway, owners of The Daily Record and residents of Buck Hill Falls, were in Philadelphia on Saturday to see daughter Ruth in an intercollegiate swimming meet.

Ruth, who spends much of her Summers working for the Record, is a student at Swarthmore and swam in the "Butterfly" event.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

One bit of advice I remember from my PTA years was included in a program on "How Parents Can Help Their Children With Homework." Not by doing it themselves, they hastened to point out, but by providing a comfortable, well-lighted and uncluttered desk and a quiet house, free from distractions.

It sounded sensible, and I honestly tried. The desk was clean and uncluttered, and they studied on their stomachs on the floor. The decree went out "no television, no radio, from 7 to 9", so they spent the time on the phone until they could turn them both on at once.

And, you know, right now I can sympathize with them. Sitting behind an unnaturally clean desk on an exceptionally quiet Sunday night, I not only feel defenseless, like a snail without its surrounding shell, but I also find myself idealistic.

Staring at a cluttered desk, something usually came to me out of the jumble itself or perhaps there was an echo in the cavellike structure, which grew like coral in branching and tuning.

BPW Club Celebrates 34th Birthday

The Business and Professional Woman's Club celebrated their 34th birthday with laughter and song last week at the dinner held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Mrs. Lulu Harvey, president, introduced visiting officials.

They included Kiwanis president, Elwood Hintze, and Mrs. Hintze; Rotary president, Ted Hoffman, and Mrs. Hoffman; Exchange Club president at Gilbert Dunning; and Iris Higgins, vice president of Soroptimists.

The entertainer, Paul Benson, lived up to his reputation as "The Laff Auctioneer" with his audience participation show involving five of the men who were guests at the dinner.

Frances Meredith and Ann George appeared in a program of songs spanning the 34 years of the club's existence, beginning with "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" and ending with music from modern musical comedies, and "Paint Your Wagon."

neiled heaps.

Sitting in the midst of arguments, shouted long-distance, phone calls, and reminiscing sport fans, the thoughts came clear and distinct. But in this order, this silence, there's nothing at all but a bare desk to contemplate.

I have been reading articles advocating desk-less executives. Efficiency experts hold that a desk not only lies an executive physically to one spot when he should be circulating, but also ties his brains down, too, if his desk is as bare as mine, it might well be.

Fortunately, not being an executive, I can keep my desk and its drawers. Where else would I keep the pictures that people were going to call for and never did, the Woman's Club yearbook from 1947, the toothbrush theoretically for cleaning the typewriter keys, or the orphan earrings?

There's an idea. Tomorrow I'll sit surrounded by open and interestingly-cluttered desk drawers. That ought to do it.

The entertainment for April was a Bunny Hop with Diane Frantz, Marlette Berger, Mae Kleintop and Judy Meckes, and Fern Brotzman. The traditional Maypole Dance was performed by Dora Berger, Wanda Sterner, Linda Smith, Connie Kleintop, Renee Berger and Connie Berger.

June, the month of brides was celebrated with a Tom Thumb Wedding and the bridal party consisted of Robert Christman, Donald Frantz, Bobbie Doshimer, Betty Smith, Marlette Berger, Michelle Lloyd, Brian Lloyd, Judy Meckes and Larry Fantz.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Pete Wyckoff, leaning over my shoulder, tells me he hopes this column will make more sense than the one he read last Monday morning. "I was really confused when I saw that the employees couldn't find a place to eat because of the fashion show. I hadn't even known there was going to be a fashion show." Maybe he was home ill. Maybe he was on vacation. I didn't inquire. But that's what he gets for not reading the Shopper EVERY day. Everyone who does, knows beyond doubt all about the fashion show, both before and after. . . . One thing Pete does know about, however, is the toy and hotel supply business. When I was purchasing a model for my son the other morning, I discovered some perfectly lovely easy chairs, plastic upholstered, for only 25.00—or three for 25.00 each if you're buying for a motel or hotel. Maybe I should visit that section of our store much more frequently—the merchandise there is well worth writing about. In Pete's behalf we just naturally extend an invitation to all resort proprietors to think first of WYCKOFF'S when they're in a furnishing, re-furnishing, or accessorizing mood. . . . Even though the English fashion world acceded Mamie Eisenhower is one of the world's worst dressed women, and criticized her hats and gowns for being entirely too youthful, the Fashion Foundation of America has not been intimidated. Mamie and Mrs. Richard Nixon head the list of America's best dressed women, the former because her ensembles "emphasize her natural charm, and harmonize with the casualness of the President's clothes". Now, how about a spot of tea between rounds? . . . I love the big lacy white straw hat trimmed with daisies displayed in Helen Levy's department along with a cute wide-skirted dress for a little girl. It seems to me that we have a particularly fine choice of dresses for girls of all ages at the moment—meaning that now's an ideal time for wise shoppers to make their Easter selections. . . . I liked Pete Wyckoff's remark to our little British cousin, Margaret Mood: "Y'know, you'd worked here a couple of months before I discovered your name isn't Mary England!" With her delightful accent, it might be an appropriate name at that—but we'd spell it "Merrie", in a sort of subdued way. . . . Dottie Dunn is a girl who always says thank you in the nicest of all ways—with a little gift that's been especially selected for the recipient. A scarf, a flower, a pretty hanky or quilted accessory box, are just a few of her selections. And her gift packages are really something when she's in the mood to express her originality. She snips prettily colored jars, or birds, or cherub faces from greeting cards, and goes all out with the paste. It's things like this that add a finishing note to the Dunn personality. . . . Tomorrow is the store bus trip to the Philadelphia Flower Show. If you haven't made your reservations, you're probably too late—but just in case here are cancellations, you might telephone our Wyckoff shoe department and leave your number. Fare down and return is 4.50. . . . According to United Press, women spend close to two and one half billion dollars a year for the sake of their appearance. Even at that, beauty is not the biggest business—there's more money spent on oil and steel. Dentifrices are the top seller among beauty products, with shampoos and home permanents also listed among the top five. Eighty million dollars went last year for home permanents; twenty-four and a half million for rinses, dyes, and tints; sixty-four million for lipstick; forty-seven million for powder, and sixty million for cleansing cream. A lot of money is being spent to snag those elusive males—but, on the other hand, 120-million dollars were spent on shampoos. Maybe a lot of women are trying to wash that man right out of their hair.

Shoes Should Fit Correctly

FAR TOO few men and women understand the importance of properly fitted shoes to the general health and contentment.

Never having to give very much thought to anatomy, they do not wrong size shoes, the evil thus created may spread through the nervous system to other parts of the body.

Believing that correct fit is even

An abused, undernourished, harassed body generally houses a mind incapable of optimum thinking and reasoning power. As the central power station of the body, the brain must be kept in top physical condition through natural means so its mental activities can be controlled. IT PROBABLY won't be the greatest show on earth but the Pocono Mountains Sports Car Association, Inc., is billing the project as the greatest one-day sporting event ever to hit Monroe County.

We're referring to the Hill Climb slated for May 4 at one of the steepest inclines within the confines of Monroe.

The non-profit organization, working in conjunction with the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau, Monroe County Auto Club and the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce, have put their some 30-odd noses to the grindstone in an attempt to place the classic on America's must-see lap.

No stone is being left unturned to make the Hill Climb synonymous with the Pocono Mountain resort area. Advice from promoters of the Giants Despair Wheel Club of Wilkes-Barre, Grand Prix of Watkins Glen, N. Y., and other noteworthy enterprises from near and far have been received and categorized into time in order to make the first "big time" event of the area organization a huge success.

Pocono Mountains Sports Car Association is likening itself to the Giants Despair of Wilkes-Barre, the Luzerne County group, known throughout the United States and Canada, for its three-day program, featuring hill climbs and road races.

The area group (Pocono) hopes to achieve the same success—financial and social—as the Wyoming Valley unit.

Here are some of the figures of the Giants Despair which the Pocono Sports Car impresarios hope to reach or surpass, maybe not this year, but in the years to come.

Full in an estimated 10,000 visitors from 37 states, plus many thousands from Monroe, Pike, Wayne, Lackawanna, Northampton and other neighboring counties; distribution of more than $250,000 in new cash from the visitors among stores, restaurants, hotels and other "likes" of a vacationer;

Also favorable publicity throughout the international scene via radio, TV, newspapers, periodicals, Movietone News, and visiting celebrities;

And the main point, in which the Pocono Mountain Sports Car Association, Inc., is stressing—aid to charities, chiefly Monroe County General Hospital and the offsprings of the Community Chest.

The last aim of the area organization hinges on the turnout at the May 4 Climb and subsequent events. The bigger attendance at each program the more the hospital and chest coffers will be enriched.

The Pocono Sports Car Association, Inc., is only a baby, an embryo of the Sports Car Club which put the area on the map with the "Race On Ice" at Pocono Pines Naam Lake this past winter.

While the humming on sleek, fast Naami was only a Johnny-come-lately project, it served notice that the organization was due for better things. Hence, the May 4 Hill Climb and proposed year-round events.

If officers R. F. Miller, president; and Joe Karpe, treasurer; have their way, and the Pocono Mountain Jaycees, Vacation Bureau and Monroe County Auto Club lend the necessary support, the May 4 classic and following programs will hit on all cylinders.

Board members like Gerry O'Neill Jr., Harry Ahnert, Alfred Schaefer and Franklin Miller and other associates from Bethlehem, and Wilkes-Barre give the first climb experience in many fields as each name could easily take a place in Who's Who.

Unfortunately, however, it takes the general public to make or break such a venture. If John Q notices a flaw in the lineup you can bet your last hole in the doughnut that socially it might be okay but financially it will fail.

This the Pocono Sports Car Association Inc., we're sure, won't let happen as its representation from all walks of life mold its experience and keen sense of judgment into a well-oiled machine which would do justice to the makers of Corvettes, MGs, Austin-Healeys, Jaguars, Porsches, Ferraris, and Volkswagens and others of significant meaning.

The first real trip into the promotion field by the Pocono sports car enthusiasts will be hampered by obstacles. But the ultimate gain by the area will more than offset the titled hurdles on the way toward the eventual May 4 success.

Tar Heels Officially Champs

Poise, Freeze Foil Kansas, Chamberlain

By WILL GRIMSLEY
KANSAS CITY, March 21 (AP) — Coach Frank McGuire of the University of North Carolina found the formula for cooling Kansas' seven-foot Will Chamberlain — ball control "freeze" and icy team poise.

As a result the Tar Heels today are firmly established as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, winner 54-53 over second-ranked Kansas in a nerve-stabbing triple overtime final marked by angry exchanges and near fist fights among both players and coaches.

"We could never have beaten Kansas if we had chosen to shoot and run with them," the dapper McGuire, who led the unbeaten North Carolinians to their 32nd straight victory, said after last night's tension-loaded game at the Municipal Auditorium.

"They would have run us right out of the place. We were familiar with Chamberlain. We knew we had to control the ball and hope to cut down his opportunities to shoot. It was the only way we could have won."

With slow, deliberate basketball which had the crowd yelling itself ragged, North Carolina, an underdog despite its rank, eased into a methodical 19-7 lead, lost it, fell behind by five points with less than four minutes to play, then rallied to win in the third overtime.

The Tar Heels' All America Star, Lennie Rosenbly, was on the sidelines—fouled out with one minute, 45 seconds to go in the regulation game—when teammate Joe Quigg coolly threw in the two free throws which gave North Carolina its one-point victory. Then with five seconds left on the clock Quigg blocked a Kansas shot which could have won the game.

Chamberlain, the high-leaping Philadelphia All - America, was limited to six field goals and 23 points, well below his average, by scored 20.

There were plenty of chances to panic, including the wild uprising in the second overtime period when Chamberlain and North Carolina's Pete Brennan wrestled for the ball and had to be pulled apart to keep from clashing.

Hot Words
Kansas' coach, Dick Harp, rushed into the court. "I wanted to try to prevent a fight," he said later. McGuire came over from the North Carolina bench. Hot words were swapped.

Kansans said McGuire called them an ugly name. McGuire said Harp told him to "shut up." And then, the North Carolina coach said, a "big guy" on the Kansas bench belted me one in the stomach.

Personnel on Kansas bench said, "We didn't do it."
Later the coaches shook hands and agreed there were no hard feelings. "Just the tension of the game," said both McGuire and Harp.

Great In Clutch
North Carolina, which proved itself a great "clutch" team during the season with last-minute comeback victories, had to weather six overtimes in two nights to survive. The Tar Heels were carried three overtimes by Michigan State before winning Friday night 74-70. San Francisco beat Michigan State again last night 67-60 for the third place prize.

Maserati Team One-Two In Race

SEBRING, Fla., March 23 (AP) — A convincing one-two finish by Juan Fangio of Argentina and Stirling Moss of England in the 12-hour Florida Grand Prix of endurance has put the Maserati factory team back in the fight for world sports car honors.

Fangio, recognized world champion, rolled home about 15 miles ahead of the pack last night in the Florida darkness, for an important victory. Jean Behra, the fearless Frenchman who shared the driving ing welterweight contender from Cuba, is favored to repeat over Turner, aggressive, 26-year-old Philadelphian, in a 10-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The smooth, fast hitting Cuban won a close but unanimous decision over Turner at the Garden, Oct. 21, 1955. Logart's record is 48-6-5, including 19 knockouts. Turner's record is 52-14-1, including 35 kayos.

Bradley Places Pair On NIT Team

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP) — Bradley, the winner, and Memphis State, the runner-up, placed two men each on the National Invitation Basketball Tournament all-star team selected today by the Associated Press.

Bradley was represented by 6-foot, 7-inch Barney Cable, the best big player to appear in the 12-team tournament, and Bobby Joe Mason, a skinny-legged sophomore whose clutch shooting on several occasions enabled the Braves from Peoria, Ill., to escape the upsets that plagued the entire tournament.

The Memphis State representatives were Win Wilfong, a sharp-eyed, springy-legged youngster from Puxico, Mo., who was chosen by a committee of coaches as the tournament's most valuable player, and Jack Butcher, the team's little play-maker.

5th Rodgers
The fifth member of the all-star team was Guy Rodgers, who led Temple to a third-place finish and who came close to being the best all-around player in the tournament.

Bradley, competing in its sixth NIT and the first since it lost to CCNY in the 1950 final, won the tournament championship Saturday afternoon by beating Memphis State 84-83 in the thrilling final of a tournament that established a couple of 20-year scoring records. Temple took third place by whipping St. Bonaventure, 67-50.

Both finalists set new NIT scoring records and the one point that separated them at the finish didn't come until rangy Shellie McMillen completed a three-point play with only 29 seconds to go. He drove in for a basket that tied the score and converted the free throw after being fouled by Bob Swander.

Breaks Mark
Bradley, seeded second to Seattle in the tournament, beat Xavier (Ohio) 116-81, Temple 94-66, and Memphis State 84-83 for a 294-point total that eclipsed the tournament three-game record of 266 set by Louisville in winning last year's tournament. Memphis State's four-game total of 325 points wiped out a mark of 321 by St. Francis (Pa.) in 1955. Bradley's 116 points against Xavier also established a new NIT and Madison Square Garden record.

Wilfong emerged as the individual high scorer of the tournament with 89 points and, incidentally, proved that height isn't all-important in modern college basketball. At 6-2, he's just an ordinary-sized player, but he can jump high enough to compete with the tall boys for rebounds.

Cable, who scored 70 points in three games, was the only tall player selected for the all-star team. Mason also is 6-2. Rodgers, an even six feet and Butcher only 5-9.

Bradley now appears to be in for a long run at the top with a team assembled by Memphis State coach Bob Vanatta during his two years at the Peoria institution. There wasn't a senior on the winning squad and there are some good freshmen coming up.

Yanks Win But Mantle Is Hurt
MIAMI, March 24 (AP) — Yogi Berra blasted four hits and drove in five runs today as the New York Yankees cuffed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 14-4, in an exhibition game here.

But the Yanks' joy was tempered by the fact that triple-crown winner Mickey Mantle injured his left foot while running in the outfield before the game.

Mantle was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital where X-rays proved negative. Dr. Sydney Gaynor, Yanks' team physician, diagnosed the injury as a severe ligament strain and said Mantle would be out of uniform at least a week.

Art Dirmar and Bobby Shantz, former A's, pitched well for the Yankees. The former gave up six hits in as many innings and Shantz allowed only two, but one was a homer by Gino Cimoli for two unearned runs.

Job with Fangio, had pushed the red Maserati out front about 75 minutes after the start.

Flyweight Title Go, Turner-Logart Return Week's Best

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press
A FLYWEIGHT title fight between champion Pascual Perez and Del Dower in Argentina Saturday and a return clash of welterweights Isaac Logart and Gil Turner feature the week's boxing program.

Perez, undefeated, 31-year-old Argentinian and the diminutive Dower, British Empire 112-pound titlist from Wales, meet in a 15-round at Buenos Aires Saturday. Dower, 23, has a 33-1 record. Perez has only one draw to mar his record. He has won 28 fights, 30 by knockouts.

Logart Choice
Logart, 23-year-old second-ranked welterweight contender from

Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles. Giardello's record is 67-13-5 with 23 KOs. Vaughn's record is 32-13-4. He has only scored seven KOs. Brooklyn's Angelo DeFendis, another winning streaker goes for his seventh straight Monday night at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont TV). He is favored to beat Yvon Durelle, Canadian light heavyweight champion, in the 10-round. DeFendis has an 18-2 record, including 10 knockouts. Durelle's record is 36-15-2, including 15 knockouts.

In an important welterweight match, former champion Tony DeMarco of Boston meets Larry Boardman in a 10-rounder in Boston Saturday night. Boardman, from Marlboro, Conn., is moving up from the lightweight ranks.

Celts Break Runoff Jinx Via Nat Sweep

BOSTON, March 24 (AP) — Veteran Bill Sharman's jump shot and brilliant plays by rookies Bill Russell and Tom Heinsohn in the final minute enabled the Boston Celtics to defeat Syracuse 83-80 today for a three game sweep of their National Basketball Assn. semi-final playoff series.

The triumph meant the Celtics have reached the playoff finals for the first time in league history and licked the Syracuse jinx.

The rugged and ragged encounter witnessed by a capacity 13,909 Boston Garden crowd had the tension which Boston's previous victories had lacked.

Syracuse had closed the gap to 79-78 on playing coach Paul Seymour's free throw when Harman took a pass from ace back court mate Bob Cousy and swished a long jump with 1:15 to play.

Cinch Goal
Heinsohn dumped in a Cousy miss moments later to make it 83-78.

Dolph Schayes, the Syracuse star of the series, converted two foul tries and it was 83-80. But with 15 seconds remaining, Russell swallowed up a Schayes shot that rolled off the rim and the bitter struggle was at an end. Sharman led all scorers with 23 points followed by Schayes who had 22.

If Young Pitchers, Old Pros In Other Spots Come Through — Cardinals May Prove Rugged

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Taking over a seventh-place club last year, Fred Hutchinson piloted the St. Louis Nationals to a fourth spot in the standings and all in the Cardinals fold figured he did a good job.

Now, in his second year as the bench pilot of the Red Birds, Hutch figures the club will be improved. In between mouthfuls of soup in his office at Al Lang Field here, Fred gave this lowdown:

"I believe we have improved as much or more than any other club in this league. Whether we can pick up those games to finish third or even higher remains to be seen.

"Last year the club was new to me. I had to experiment. We experimented with Wally Moon at first and then put him back in the outfield. Stan Musial played the outfield and first base. Al Dark came to us in June but this year we have him for the whole season.

"I think our pitching has more depths this year and I think we'll be a little more sound all around, both offensively and defensively. Our relief pitching looks good.

Problem In Center
"We have a problem in center field but both Chuck Harmon and Bobby Del Greco are good defensively. Our catching will be okay. I believe Ken Boyer will have a better year than last. He tailed off in mid-season but then came on again after that."

Trader Frank Lane, the Cardinals' general manager who isn't happy unless he's exchanging ball players, was busy since last year and the roster is dotted with new faces.

From the Chicago Cubs came Toothpick Sam Jones, Hobie Landrith and Eddie Miksis. Jones was 9-14 with the Cubs. Landrith is a catcher and Miksis an infielder.

From Philadelphia came Del Ennis for Rip Repulski and Ennis should add some power to the Cardinal attack. And, just recently, the Red Birds picked up reliever Hoyt Wilhelm from the Giants, giving up Whitey Lockman.

There are 20 pitchers on the roster in addition to some camp boys. The staff is headed by Murry Dickson, "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, Willard Schmidt and Herm Wehmeier.

Impressive
Among the newcomers the most impressive have been Tom Cheney, a righthander who won 10 for Omaha, Lloyd Merritt, from Birmingham, and Bob Smith, from San Francisco. Lynn Lovenguth, another righthander, won 24 for Toronto last year.

Tom Alston, the 6-foot-5-inch first sacker, is back from Omaha where he had a good year, and Joe Cunningham is up from Rochester where he did well in 1956. If they don't make it, Musial or Moon always can play first base.

Don Blasingame, who started last year at shortstop, moved to second base when Red Schoendienst was traded and he had a good year for a rookie. He should be better this season.

Eddie Kasko, who plays both short and second, and Dick Schofield, one a bonus boy, are battling for infield positions and are called by Hutchinson as "just about as good defensively as anybody in this league."

Expect Better Year
Dark expects to have a better

PHILADELPHIA — Miss Ruth Ottaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ottaway, publishers of The Daily Record, was one of the key figures in Swarthmore College's winning the Eastern Intercollegiate women's championship for the 10th straight time today.

Swimming at the University of Pennsylvania's pool Saturday, Miss Ottaway helped Swarthmore gain a coveted victory in the 200-yard relay event.

Swimming at the University of Pennsylvania's pool Saturday, Miss Ottaway helped Swarthmore gain a coveted victory in the 200-yard relay event.

Miss Ottaway also placed fourth in the 50-yard butterfly race. In this event, the trio who finished ahead of Miss Ottaway smashed the EIWC record for the event.

Healthful Diet Slows Down Aging Process Of Human Body

The findings of biochemists show that a large share of cases of cancer, arteriosclerosis, liver disease, arthritis, and heart disease are the end result of prolonged malnutrition and can be averted by early adoption of an adequate diet.
Dr. E. J. Steigitz says, "The elderly are prone to suffer from protein deficiency more than from any other form of deficiency."
Mild protein deficiency manifests itself chiefly as a "sense" of habitual fatigue. More extreme deficiencies, however, lead to atrophy of muscle and other tissues, anemia, and edema.
If the average person faced his retirement years after having eaten life-continuing proteins, he would be in an enviable health position. Facts show that most people have neglected themselves through improper diet.
Enviably Health Position
If you are the average person, the chances are that you eat about 75 percent more devitalized starch and sugar foods than are compatible with your good health, and your desire to feel and look young-er than your years.
Your body cells need protein, vitamins and minerals to prevent "internal chemical starvation," which has been identified by scientists as the early stage in the complicated process of aging. Premature old age is not a natural process, but the result of years and years of cumulative nutritional deficiencies.
Aging is a general trend of the changes of a body in both structure and function. You age when atrophy and degeneration tear down your body more rapidly than worn tissues are being replaced, so often caused by nutritional carelessness.
Balance this wear and tear with foods rich in proteins, vitamins and minerals. Cut down on those fats, sugars and starches.
And you can slow down the premature aging of your body and live a lot longer than you think!

Six Days Remain To Obtain Plates

PENNSYLVANIA motorists were reminded yesterday they have only "six more shopping" days to obtain their 1957 license plates. The current registration year ends at midnight, Sunday, March 31.
Secretary of Revenue Gerald A. Gleason said the Bureau of Motor Vehicles will keep its Harrisburg office open for the convenience of the motoring public on Saturday, March 30, from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.
This office, located at 7th and North Sts. in Harrisburg, is the only place in the Commonwealth where license plates are sold over-the-counter.
Same Day
At the same time, Charles M. Dougherty, Director of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, said that all mail applications for registration tags are being processed the same day they are received. This first-mail service will continue through the close of business, Saturday, March 30.
Dougherty also revealed that 2,300,000 license plates already have been issued, and he said that 2,900,000 plates will be sold by the deadline of March 31.
An estimated 3,000 license tags have been returned to the Bureau because of incorrect addresses, Dougherty said. These are being returned by first class mail—just as quickly as the owners notify the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of their correct address.
"I want to point out that several thousand motorists may not receive their 1957 plates on time," Dougherty said. "These motorists failed to sign their checks, made them out improperly, did not endorse personal checks, or for some other reason did not complete their applications correctly. These are being returned by first class mail, and just as quickly as they come back to the Bureau, they will be processed and the 1957 license plates mailed."

it's best to divide

Your clothes wash cleaner when the soap is divided into two or more parts. In our laundry, we put one part in the first water. As the soap works, the water gets dirty. We dump this dirty water and put the second part of soap to work in clean water too. It's best to send your washables to the laundry that gets more good out of the soap and more dirt out of the clothes.
